Ruth M. Willis

Co-founder of CPS
April 6, 1903 - July 9, 1987

Remembrances

Hospitalized with arthritis before she was twenty; active during periods of remission and astonishing friends with her zest for life, pain or no pain; amusing those around her with her quips and stories, earning the affectionate respect of teen-aged girls while managing the practical affairs of a New England boarding school. Such, in part, was the background of the co-founder of CPS.

Qualities evident in New England came into significant play in the course of our Western enterprise. Our search for a home to convert to a school building met with set-back. Discouraged? Not Ruth. Taking another direction, we bought the little yellow house on Claremont Avenue and undertook to build a classroom structure on the property. This was a daring enlargement of our plans, straining our less than abundant resources. There was reason for concern. Ruth's mind had no place for worry. We were doing a good thing; we would succeed. "Dauntless" was the word for Ruth Willis.

She often took the lead in negotiations for a loan; her confidence and enthusiasm were contagious. She did not fret (much) when day after summer day brought us no building permit. We had signed up teachers and pupils for the September opening, but not a shovel-full of dirt was turned until mid-July. Ruth "knew" we would open on time. We did.

She took charge of the business affairs of the school and directed or carried out all non-instructional functions. In emergencies she was quick-thinking, decisive, and competent; with her routine tasks, indefatica-ble.

Articulate and resonant of voice, she had strong opinions and willingly shared them. You might disagree with her; I often did. But you would find nothing petty or mean in what she said. Teachers and students speak of her warm interest in each individual and recall with pleasure the wit and wry humor that made every conversation with her an event. She held students to a high standard of conduct. If a student transgressed, he received an unambiguous message from her. Nevetheless, most culprits felt the warmth the underlay her rebuke.

The quality that above all others graces Ruth Willis in my memory is her unswerving loyalty — loyalty to our school, to those who honestly served it, to its Director. Her steadfast support when circumstances were worrisome or hard decisions had to be made strengthened my confidence and resolve. Many have written that it was a privilege to know Ruth Willis. It was my great good fortune to have had her as a colleague and friend for nearly half a century.

Mary Harley Jenks
Co-Founder of CPS

A kaleidoscope of memories flashes by as I think of Miss Willis - indomitable spirit - fiercely loyal to the standards of the school - wonderfully outspoken in her opinions - compassionate when it truly mattered - willing to fight for what she considered right - not putting up with any nonsense - working hard without complaining about her load - never compromising her integrity - opening up her big heart when someone really needed warmth and understanding.

Aina Rech

Ruth truly loved the students who were indirectly her charge. She brooked no nonsense and had a sharp sense of right and wrong which she readily communicated. She was both tough and resilient, with an infinite capactiy for work and a lively sense of humor.

Concern for and service to others were the hallmarks of Ruth's life; she contributed importantly to the essential ethos of the school. We shall miss her.

Robert Baldwin, Jr., Headmaster
(excerpts from 1987 Fall Newsletter)

TO THE CLASS OF 1988

It hardly seems possible to me that you are the twenty-first class I have seen graduate during my tenure at CPS. I cannot characterize you in any special way, i.e. that you are more "this" or less "that" than any other class; every class is both typical and atypical. Yet it does seem to me that you have matured tremendously since those 9th grade days when as a group you came across as rather narrowly competitive. Now I see other characteristics which you project more sharply, ones which I have always identified as unique to CPS. Among them is respect for a well-developed individuality. Individual differences among you are not smothered in groupiness or simply tolerated; they are allowed a commendable legitimacy. Also, doing well in school is both respectable and respected. Showing concern for others, i.e. outreach beyond the school as well as civility toward others in your daily contacts, characterizes much of your style. Trite as it is, the way we conduct ourselves, not simply what we accomplish or what we say we believe in, is the measure of things, politicians notwithstanding.

I hope CPS has lit sparks which will lead you to new adventures, greater understanding of yourselves, and unlimited personal satisfactions. Come back often. Godspeed!

Good times go so quickly now
When your with your friends
You never realize these times must end.
Years may come and years may go
And seperate us all
But the times we've had
The things we've shared will never fall.
We're never gonna pass this time again
We're never gonna be the same
But we'll still be friends.
When I think of years to come
And things I'm gonna do
A part of me is growing up

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in the yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same.

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in the wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

ROBERT FROST

It would be very nice if wisdom were like water, and flowed by contact out of one who has more,
into one who has less, just as water can be made to pass through a thread of wool, out of the fuller of two cups into the emptier. If this applies to wisdom, I value the privilege of sitting besides you very highly, for I have no doubt that you will fill me with the ample draught of the finest wisdom. Such wisdom as I posses is slight and has little more reality than a dream; but yours, Father is brilliant and may shine brighter yet;
For I am still quite young.

Sometimes I sleep
Sometimes it's not for days
And people I meet
Always go their separate ways
Sometimes you tell the day
By the bottle that you drink
And times when you're alone
All you do is think

When I was a child
I caught a fleeting glimpse
Out of the corner of my eye
I turned to look but it was gone
I cannot put my finger on it now

Some people seem so obsessed with the morning. They get up early just to watch the sun rise. Some people like it when there's fire in the sky, they worship the sun when it's high. Some people go for those sultry evenings, siping cocktails in the blue, red and gray, but I like every minute of the day.

That's life, and as funny as it may seem,
Some people get their kicks, stompin' on a dream.
But I won't ever let it get me down,
'Kuz that big old world keeps spinnin' round.
Been a puppet, pirate, poet, pauper, a bum and a king,
Been up, down, in out, and I know one thing,
Each time that I find myself flat on my face,
I pick myself up and get back in the race,
That's Life, and I can't deny it,
Sometimes I thought quittin' but, my heart
Wouldn't buy it.
But I won't ever let it get me down,
'kuz that big old world keeps spinnin'
Round.

They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint.

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs, and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting, too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good nor talk too wise;
If you can dream and not make dreams your master,
If you can think, and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with triumph and disaster,
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;
If you can make one heap of all your winnings,
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them: "Hold on!"
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings--nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much,
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And--which is more--you'll be a Man, my Son!

EUROPE: The Hardrock in London. Getting up at 3 am to get tickets for Wimbeldon. The Undergound. Warwick Castle. Going shopping. Meeting people. Going to Germany. Skeptical cops - "Your passport please." Speeding on the autobahn. Salzburg. Doing a "donut" in a rent-a-Mercedes in the parking lot - when no one is watching. Going to the village. Mozart's museum. Getting lost for 4 hours in a storm. Writing to Alisha. What an experience . . .

TO EVERYBODY:
It's been a long time, I shouldn't've left you
Without a page you could get into,
Think of how many dumb ones you flipped through, times up,
I'm sorry I kept you . . .

OR IMPORTANCE: My life. Taking the pillows off the couch and turning it into a 'spaceship' when mommy and daddy aren't home. Bouncing down the stairs inside pillow cases. Always ripping them. Whem mommy and daddy aren't home. My first bike. Riding it in the living room. You know, when mommy and daddy aren't home. Playing superman. Playing cops and robbers. Jumping off the roof of "the shack in the back" onto the old mattresses below - what fun. Playing with toys. Star Wars. Seeing the movie 19 times. G.I. Joe. And knowing is half the battle (what's the other half!) — Junior High. Girls. Nights on the town. 'Till 2 am. Videogames - "Mom, can I have some more money?" — High School. REAL homework. Tai Kwon Do. Breaking Boards. BMS's. Ski Trips. Prom Night. "Rubber Ducky." Denny's. Personal Best Day. Europe. Partners' Program. Mr. Ward (in Growning Up and Akido). Mustangs. Alisha and love. Possibly yucki but definately real. Always and forever . . .
